Biographical Note

Henry B. Caverly was born in what is now Highland, New York in 1821. As a young man he worked in the Poughkeepsie grocery store owned by George Van Kleek and Leonard Carpenter. Around 1844 he ran away from his Poughkeepsie home and joined a Nantucket whaling ship Norman bound for the Pacific Ocean in a voyage that ended by 1848. During the voyage he was employed as the “boat steerer.” His father was John I. Caverly, brothers John S. Caverly and likely Philip, and sister Sarah Ostrander. Henry B. Caverly’s grandfather Henry Ludington served in the French and Indian War and in the Revolution as a Colonel under George Washington. His older brother John S. Caverly was born in Highland in 1819 and also worked in the Poughkeepsie grocery business which became Odell, Caverly & Co, and later, Caverly & Meyer. He retired in 1876 and lived with his younger brother until his death in 1895.

Henry B. Caverly later became a successful produce merchant in New York City before retiring to Passaic, New Jersey in 1899. He died there in 1905 of pneumonia at the age of 84. He was survived by his wife, Helena M. Caverly and two children, John L. Caverly and Sophia E. Caverly. Helena lived from 1833 until 1912 and John L. Caverly died in 1923.

James Emott Andrews was born in LaGrangeville, New York in 1857 and died in 1943 at the age of 85. His parents were Philip Schuyler Andrews and Cornelia Krum Andrews. He started the J. E. Andrews Hardware company, was a mason and longtime member of the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce. He was also the director of the Poughkeepsie Trust Company for over 40 years. His daughter, Hazel Andrews was the secretary of the J. E. Andrews Hardware Company whose Vice President was his son, Ernest Andrews. Perhaps J. E. Andrews was married to Sophia E. Caverly, which would complete the connection, but there is no documentation of that and Sophia was referred to as “Miss” at least until 1924.

Provenance

The Collection was donated to the Dutchess County Historical Society by Hazel Andrews in 1948.
